"Thank you again for your presentation to year 12 at our PSHE morning last Friday. Many of our students have spoken enthusiastically to their tutors about what you had to say, and how you said it.

Also, all of the staff who came to listen were extremely impressed by your control of the session, and the accessibility of the content. As I suspected they would, they found it very informative, and even a bit alarming. We can all think of occasions when we may well have been over the limit ourselves without realising it!

The message that you give is such an important one, and your relaxed and natural way that you have with the students enables you to deliver it in a way that is enjoyable as well as informative. I know that many of the students have retained the central ideas and facts of the presentation (I gave a few of them a little verbal test yesterday!) and I am sure that they will stay in their minds for the rest of their lives.

We look forward to seeing you again next year"

Monica Hetherington – Head of Sixth Form Bedford Modern School

"I would like to say that the resources and additional ideas you gave us worked well in the classroom. I would hope that not only have we informed our students but that they will take the message back to parents and grandparents. The DVD dispelled a lot of myths that the students had taken as fact and it would be good if students across the country could learn from the DVD and take the message out to their peers."

Annette Mason, Specialist Personal Tutor, Thames Valley University [Reading College]

"I congratulate you on your 'toolkit' DVD on drink driving the morning after. While the Department for Transport is always so shy to talk about the length of time it takes for alcohol to leave your system, you have addressed it with clear, concise information for drivers. "

Mary Williams OBE, Chief Executive, BRAKE the Road Safety Charity

"We have worked with the DDE+ team and found their message of focussing on making people responsible for calculation of when they should be free of alcohol, in order to be able to drive some time later (morning after etc) very realistic. That is far more likely to be taken on board than the usual preaching of simply "don't drink and drive".

DDE+'s presentation allows people to make an informed choice. The presentations are lively and fun but with a subtle handling of the seriousness of the issue and encouraging the audience to feel good about making sensible choices. Not only do they present some interesting facts and information but these are backed up with good resources.

We value the enthusiastic approach that DDE+ brings and their wealth of experience in the subject. If you are keen to come at the Drink Drive topic from a slightly different, far more realistic, direction then I'd recommend you get in touch with DDE+."
